

Political Bias

- Political bias is liking one political group or idea more than others.
- It is okay to prefer some politicians or policies. But it is not okay to like a political group or idea so much that we stop listening to other groups or ideas.
- Sometimes we seek out news and other information that makes us believe that we are right. Unfortunately it is easy to ignore any news or facts that don't agree with our thinking. This is a bias and it is not a good thing. It stops us making decisions based on all the information that is available. Even worse, political bias might make us look at information that is deliberately wrong or misleading.
- It's okay that everyone can have their own ideas and beliefs. But it's good to explore different ideas and listen to a wide range of view points.

