

Politics

- Politics is sharing each others ideas about the way we want our country to be managed.
- Politics is not easy. Lot of different people have lots of different ideas about lots of different things. People tend to think that their ideas are right. In fact, there is so much stuff to think about that it is impossible for anyone to be right about everything.
- In politics it is okay for people to disagree with each other about what is the best thing to do. It is not okay to be unkind towards people who have different views to us.
- Politics is messy. It is okay to disagree with someone but it is not okay to get angry and be unkind to them.

