

Running Off

- Running off is when we run away from the adult looking after us.
- Running off is when we run away so that we cannot be seen by our parent or any other adult who is looking after us. Running off is not OK and can be against the rules. If we run off we may get into trouble.
- If we run off adults may be worried about us. They may also get very cross with us.
- If we run off we might get lost. We can also put ourselves in danger.
- Everybody can feel angry or upset sometimes. It is OK to tell people that we are angry or upset. It is not OK to run off.
- Running off makes adults worry and is not OK.
